Three reports recently published about Miss Elizaboth Elkirs, daughter of Stephen B. Elkins, ex-Ramsay, the paster of the Harless Presbyterian Church. The Rev. John Becker, the Rev. W. C. secretary of War, were all interesting owing to the prominence of the members of Miss Elkina's family and others who were mentioned, but the reports were incorrect. One of them, coming from Paris, was an unauthorized, and incorrect announcement of the engagement of Miss Elaits to Desha Breckinridge, a member of the old and well-known Southern family of that name. The others were that when she went abroad early in the season she accompanied Major ard Miss Halford, and that while in Loudon she was presented at one of the Queen's drawing-rooms. It is not expected, however, that the present management will proceed, except in as cautions a manner as possible, so as to obtain as much

The holders of the general mortgage 4 per cent bonds are said to insist that the interest due them on July 1 shall be paid, and they have urged the plan of selling the coal in stock to provide the means. There will be required $886,000 for interest on the general 4s, and about $100,000 for interest on the underlying Issues. Interest on the Reading Coal and Iron Company's divisional bonds and leased-line rentals will bring the total requirements on July 1 up to $1,000,000. The Reading has $10,000,000 in coal and coal accounts among its quick assets. Fy the sale of coal at auction it is hoped to realize enough money to tide over the July payments, leaving time for the discussion of another pian for the complete rehabilitation of the company's finances.

The loan of Speer & Co. to the Reading, amounting to $3,000,000, which was extended to July 1, will probably be renewed. The equipment notes issued to the Pullman Pelace Car Company for equipment fall due at different periods, from 1803 to 1808, and cause no concern.

Montreal, June 24 (Special).-The Grand Trunk Rallway has stolen another march on its big rival, the Canadian Pacific, and now has an all-rail route straight to New-York, and another outlet on the Atlantic. It has also obtained direct rall communication with Northern New-York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New-Jersey, Maryland and Northern Virginia, by routes over which a fast freight service is now in course of establishment, which will give direct communication, via the Chicago and Grand Trunk road, to the Western States and Western Ontario. information is confirmed by L. J. Seargeant, president of the Chicago and Grand Trunk and general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway. The through route to New-York has been secured by a close alliance just formed between the Grand Trunk and the Philadelphia and Reading roads and the entire Reading system. On August 1 a fast freight service will be established over the route.

It leoks as though the admitted close alliance with the Grand Trunk for a fast freight and passenger service was little else than the taking over of the Reading system by the Grand Trunk. It had been the intention to make nothing public until all the details should have been finally arranged, the Grand Trunk management fearing, no doubt, that the Canadian Pacific might not like the alliance and might play one of its trump cards to prevent the deal. On seeing that the story had leaked out, however, the president of the Chicago and Grand Trunk promptly admitted the above facts and also gave the opinion that the alliance would be vastly beneficial to the Grand Trunk and Reading systems. It is true the Reading had a route to the West over the Wabash via Detroit, but this was neither paying nor satisfactory. The Chicago and Grand Trunk will now join the Reading at Buffalo via the Lebigh Valley road, and all the lines in the new combination hav signed a guarantee to subscribe for a large rolling ong the benefits expected by the Grand Trunk to follow the alliance is a share with the Canadia to follow the alliance is a share with the Canadian Pacific in traffic from the East, as by the new arrangement eastern and Southern freight can be carried on the Reading and Lenigh Valley to Buffalo and then by the Grand Trunk main line through Western Ontario to North Bay, when access can be had to the Canadian Pacific at the Sault Ste. Marie road, thus compelling the Caffadian Pacific to assist in ben-fitting the combined roads. Another source of profitable traffic, it is hoped, will be in carrying nickel and copper ores from the celebrated miles at Sadbury, Ontario, direct to the smelting furnaces in New-Jersey.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO THE SOUTH.

A new train will be started on July 2 by way of the Pennsylvania Railroad, to be known as the "At-lantic Coast Line Express," to run from Eastern cities to the South. At the same time train "No. 27, Fast Mail." now leaving New-York at 12:15 night, and Mail," now leaving New-York at 12:15 fight, and Washington at 10:57 a. m., will be discontinued to points reached by the Atlantic Coast Line south of Weldon, N. C. The new service offers material reduction in time from New-York to Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick, Albany, Columbia, Thomasville, Montgomery, and Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Ocala, Savord Tayma and all reducts in Eastern and Middle Sanford, Tampa and all points in Eastern and Middle Florida; also to Havana, Cuba, with only one night en route to the Gulf. "Atlantic Coast Line Express" will leave New-York daily at 9:30 a. m., giving equal facilities for reaching points in North and south Carolina, Georgia and Florida as afforded by the "Fast Mail" news-paper train that has been leaving New-York at 4:35 a.m. and Washinson at 10:57 a.m. The new train will carry Pullman butlet sleeping cars from New-York to Pert Tampa by way of Jacksonville, from New-York to Charleston and New-York to Columbia.

There are still many persons in Bayonne who think that Mrs. Curds did not commit suicide, and that she went away to meet an admirer. Nothing has been heard from the husband of the missing woman, who left his home on Thursday to search for his wife and her companion. Curds was in a despendent meed and was armed with a pistol. Before he went away he told some of his friends in Bayonne that his mission was to find the man who had destroyed his domestic happiness, and that he intended to shoot aim on sight if he found him.
